STARTERS

Canh Chua (literally “sour soup”) is a sour soup from the Mekong Delta region of southern Vietnam.

It is usually prepared with fish from the Mekong, pineapple and tomatoes (sometimes with other vegetables as well).

It also contains bean sprouts in a tamarind-flavoured broth.

Canh Chua is prepared with citrus-scented rice paddy herb (Limnophila aromatica).

Caramelised garlic, chopped spring onions and other suitable herbs complete the variety of flavours in Canh Chua. These may include: Rau Ram (Vietnamese coriander), Ngo Gai (larger coriander) and Rau Que (Thai-basil).
